Learning Levels
LL5	My report is very detailed and clearly shows the information in more than one way, e.g. text and charts. I have described how IT has changed the working and home lives of people in my family. I have also been able to judge to what extent I.T. has changed our daily lives. I have been able to present my own opinions on the changes I.T. has brought, and supported these views by referring to what I have found out.
LL4	My report is detailed. I have analysed what I have found out and made some conclusions. I have described some of the changes I.T. has brought to people's lives and compared the use of I.T. to other methods of working.
LL3	I have explained the background and development of changes brought about by I.T. and written a brief report about their impact, benefits and drawbacks.
LL2	I have described how I.T. has changed the lives of members of my family in different ways. I have started to analyse the impact of these changes.
LL1	I have collected information from at least one family member and stated some ways that I.T. is used.
